In Dedication To

L to R: Donald, Melvin, and Lydia McNichols

To Dean Donald McNichols, whose challenging chapel talks, classroom lectures, and sincere guidance merits our respect as administrator and friend.

To Lydia McNichols, wife, mother, and instructor whose Christian example and radiant personality enriches the spirit of campus living.

Yes, and to Melvin McNichols, a first-grader, who, although just beginning his formal education, has experienced four years of college life on George Fox college campus. His animation and extensive vocabulary have added enjoyment to students and faculty alike.

McNichols—to you as a family—our campus family, the L'Ami staff dedicates their 1954 edition.

TREASURER

Administrative Committee

We have come to the close of the second year in which we, the Administrative Committee, have worked together in forming school policy. These two years attest to the possibility of unity within planning and executing a program.

These two years have proven to be one of life's rich experiences. God's grace has been revealed through the supply of those things necessary for the successful operation of the college. At all times we have sensed the full support of the trustees; we have been free to work closely with them, with the faculty and the students. We express our thanks to God and our deep appreciation to these groups for their loyalty, cooperation, and Christian spirit of devotion.

Meeting quarterly to set general policies and transact college business is the Board of Directors of George Fox College. President of the Board is Ivan L. Adams, now in his fourth consecutive year of leadership. The board works closely with the three-man administrative committee in promoting work toward accreditation of the college.

Faculty

Professorship of English Literature is the Dean's life and love. He is unique in his observations and philosophizing in terms of "Tennyson" and "Browning". A man truly worthy of his title, Dean McNichols heads the Administrative Committee and is curricular advisor of the college.

Teaching in the area of home economics and education, Miss Willcutts is recognized as an expert instructor. In her duty as head resident at Canyon Hall women's dormitory she is respected and admired for her wise counsel, her friendliness, and understanding qualities.

Treasurer

J. Howard Pearson, college treasurer, is respected for his business ability and keeping the college financial records systematically.

Secretary

Naomi Lemmons, efficient college secretary, is in charge of all office help as well as doing correspondence for Dean McNichols and Harlow Ankeny.

Public Relations

Harlow Ankeny, with his youthful outlook and friendliness, is the man that gives the public relations department personality that reaps results. Helping in this department, also, is Milo C. Ross in the interest of freshmen for '54-'55.

Students not only remember John Fankhauser because they must see him every month for their work credit slips, but for his jovial remarks and love for young people. In addition to his position as superintendent of building and grounds, Mr. Fankhauser is pastor of Newberg Friends church this year.

Mixing up cakes, puddings, and other delectables is Jessie Wakefield's job at George Fox College.

Besides managing the actual cooking, Jessie, heads the dining hall staff of which Lea Wilkinson is assistant cook and Audrey Comfort is chief waitress.

Hostess Helen Willcutts helps Jessie in the dining room procedures.

Mrs. Alice Wheeler R. N., college nurse and head resident of Edward's Hall men's dormitory is highly respected by everyone on campus. Being a booster for vitamin pills gave Mrs. Wheeler's practice a special significance to the students.

Fulltime maintenance men, J. D. Baker and John Davies, headed by Isaac Smith, have worked on campus beautification throughout the year. A new drainage system, replacing lawn, road improvement, and landscaping have been their projects.

Sophomores

Still lower-classmen, but very aggressive were the sophomores. Parties — in honor of the freshmen, a breakfast, a waffle supper — were a few of the social activities enjoyed by the class of '56. To prove their aggressiveness, they were winners of a pep award and co-winners with the seniors in the one-act play contest.

President's Message

Another good year spent at George Fox College.

We, of the Student Council, want to express our thanks to:

Last year's council for leaving us a revised constitution by which to run the Associated Students affairs.

The Associated Students as a whole for their fine co-operation throughout the year.

To our adviser, Dean McNichols, for his expert advice when we were stumped.

To the organizations on campus that have done such a good job to keep everyone occupied and happy.

Of course we give the Lord the praise for anything that has been accomplished this year. We also give up our positions to next year's officers with the promise that we will back them up with prayer as they take over their duties for the coming year.

Some of their responsibilities are Tuesday chapels, the Big and Little Sister party, Stag mix, New students receptions, weekly prayer meetings, and Christian Emphasis week in the fall.

Deputation is one of the responsibilities of the S. C. U. Arnold Lee, sophomore, plans these appointments. Many teams go out each Sunday, as well as students who hold regular appointments.

Clinton Brown ably leads the S. C. U. cabinet as president. Clinton is an all-around athlete, junior class president, and a fellow well thought of by his classmates.

When the audience saw The Vigil, the Easter drama, April 16 and 17, they watched the modern trial of Joseph of Arimathea's gardener, accused of grave-robbing. "An impressive presentation!" and other such remarks were heard following the curtain call.

Peek behind the scenes—constructing flats and props is no easy task. "A few streaks give a better effect."

"A painting we will go . . ."

"Please be quiet—Now I want . . ."

Costuming those characters was a full-time job. At the last minute is heard, "Does anybody have a pin?"

Make-up, grease paint, wigs, false beards (something has to be done on freshmen) eyebrow pencil and all went on. Mary Magdalene's red hair was most difficult!

That ever-present help in trouble, the prompter, bless her heart. Need any more be said?

"Get that line!" During the many rehearsals before THAT night, many experiences happen which add to an actor's treasure of memories—and to the director's also. Some she'd rather forget.

Lights, Curtain, Action!

Altogether the choir was presented in approximately 40 concerts. The group toured Oregon, Washington, and Idaho.

The repertoire was drawn from the works of both historical and contemporary composers. A highlight of their program was the singing of Grieg's "How Fair Is Thy Face" and "God's Son."

President of the choir was Yvonne Hubbard. Lavelle Robison was secretary and Ardeth Beals served as social chairman.

BAND

On the George Fox College campus is an organization which deserves much acclaim—the band.

This group is made up of musicians who meet at unorthodox hours in order to provide entertainment at drama and musical events; as well as athletic contests.

Directing this year is Richard Zeller, a Junior from Salem, Oregon. Dick works very hard in the music and athletic departments and his efforts are appreciated by students and faculty alike.

This year the band has played for Homecoming, May Day and the basketball games.

A highlight for band members was a dinner at the Zeller home in Salem, where the player piano was the center of attraction.

Directing the group was Richard Zeller, president. Assisting Dick were Fred Newkirk, vice-president; Robert Byrd, secretary; Paul Oppenlander, treasurer; John Davis, social chairman; and Maynard Corlett, publicity chairman.

*Marilyn Barnes in Senior Recital
Sandra Nordyke, accompanist*

Presented in her senior voice recital was Marilyn Barnes, contralto from Homedale, Idaho. Marilyn is a music major at GFC and has been very active in all phases of campus music life. Her sophomore year she sang in a joint recital and sang Papagano in Mozart's "Magic Flute" the same year she was featured in a junior recital.

As well as being soloist for the GFCacappella choir, for the past two years Marilyn has been the alto soloist with the Newberg Community Chorus' presentation of Handel's "Messiah."

Included in her concert was music from opera, the classical and contemporary field and a cycle by Brahms.

Richard Zeller in Song Recital - Harlan Barnett, accompanist

Featured in an evening of song was Richard Zeller, bass from Salem, Oregon.

Dick has been very active in the GFC music department. Last year he sang the role of the High Priest in Mozart's "Magic Flute" and gave a recital of sacred music.

The Newberg Community Chorus has chosen Dick as their bass soloist for the "Messiah" the past two years.

The recital featured the art songs of Schubert, spirituals and music of the contemporary idiom.

In Joint Recital Ardeth Beals, Marian Perry and Robert Byrd

The GFC music department presented Ardeth Beals, pianist; Marian Perry, soprano; and Robert Byrd, tenor in a joint song recital.

Ardeth is a music major from Portland, and was accompanist for the '53 presentation of "The Magic Flute" by Mozart. Her groups included numbers by Bach, Chopin, Ibert and Schumann.

Marian, a senior from Tacoma, Washington, is a sociology major. Marian's program included music from the classical, romantic and contemporary periods.

Robert Byrd, a sophomore from Lynnvile, Iowa, is an English Literature major. Last year Bob sang Tamino in "The Magic Flute" and was presented this year as tenor soloist with the Newberg Community Chorus' Messiah.

Included in his numbers was music from opera, spiritual and the contemporary field.

Sandra Nordyke in Piano Recital

Miss Sandra Nordyke, a sophomore from Salem, Oregon, was presented in a piano recital April 27.

Sandra is a well known and much appreciated pianist on the George Fox campus. Besides her own solo work she has accompanied Marilyn Barnes and Marian Perry this year.

The highlight of the program was a group of numbers entitled "Poems of the Sea," composed by Ernest Bloch, who lives on the Oregon coast.

Recognizing the need for financial assistance to the students, George Fox college has an extensive work program headed by John Fankhauser.

Students are employed in jobs according to their varied interests.

Homecoming

"I Crown Thee Queen Nancy of the 1953 Homecoming," states Orville Winters, Associated Students Vice-President.

Elected as Queen for the 1953 Homecoming was Nancy Trautman, a sophomore from Portland, Oregon. Completing the court were Princesses Gwen, Myrta, Lucille and Gladys.

Highlighting the afternoon's activities was a football game with Linfield college.

The evening featured the banquet and one-act play contest. The sophomore-senior class play "This Night Shall Pass," won honors as the best presentation of the evening, and Kara Newell and John Davis were named best actress and actor respectively. They both appeared in "Elizabeth," freshman-junior one-act play.

Ralph Beebe, chosen by the faculty for his record in journalism, has been active in that field throughout his four years at George Fox. Aside from his editorship of The Crescent in his senior year Ralph's journalistic endeavor centered around sports writing. Being correspondent with five newspapers in the area, including the Oregon Journal and The Oregonian, was an extra-curricular activity, as was his office as sports editor of both the L'Ami and The Crescent.

Journalism: Ralph Beebe

Women's Athletics: Jean Foley

Jean Foley was named by the athletic department as the senior woman who has done the most for the athletic department during her four years at school. Jean is a three year letterwoman in all sports and was the '54 president of the Gold Q. She is also a past president of WAA. Jean's most outstanding trait is her team work.

Alice Wheeler to Africa

Alice Wheeler and African twins

Through word from the mission front and prayer, Alice Wheeler, matron at Edwards Hall, felt a definite calling to work in the Leper Colony at Nyan Kanda, Ruyigi Ruanda-Uranda, to fill in as relief nurse from April to August.

Robert Adams, FMF president, presented this concern and the need for funds to the George Fox College students Wednesday, February 18, 1953. The needed $2,000 was raised and sent in from various sources under the sponsorship of the GFC students. The final payment arrived April 1 and Mrs. Wheeler left the United States April 5. Her date of arrival was April 11.

Mrs. Wheeler returned from a very successful mission to Africa in August. Each situation and new problem in the leper colony had been faced and won.

IN MEMORIAM

The college was stunned May 13th by the loss of one of her finest sons, Paul Marcy Oppenlander, class of '57. He was gifted and he applied himself to develop those gifts for the fullest possible service to God. Admired by students, respected by the faculty, his life in every respect exemplified the highest nobility of Christian manhood.

FOOTBALL

Inexperience, injuries, and cancellations caused the 1953 grid season to be one of the poorest in George Bales' six years at GFC.

The inexperience is evident from a look at the 21 man roster which included only seven lettermen and thirteen freshmen, many of whom had played no football previously.

The most damaging of the injuries was a severely twisted knee received by stellar guard Ted Eichenberger. Center Earl Tycksen, quarterback Steve Ross, tackle George Andrews, and end Fred Newkirk all sustained injuries which limited their action.

When Reed college discontinued football and cancelled both GFC games, and when the Portland State junior varsity was unable to play a scheduled pair of contest, Coach George Bales was forced to arrange games with superior opposition. Three were played against a strong Linfield JV squad.

The football season saw 200 pound junior fullback Dick Zeller establish himself as one of the "all-time greats" at George Fox college. Zeller punted 35 times for a phenomenal 41 yard average per kick. He completed 26 passes in 54 throws for 415 yards and six touchdowns. In addition, the husky Salemite, who was co-captain with Clint Brown, led the team in rushing with 198 yards in 62 for a 3.2 average.

The experience gained in the 1953 season should serve the Quakers well in coming years. Only one senior, Verne Martin, and three juniors, Ted Eichenberger, Clint Brown, and Dick Zeller, were in the squad.

Improvement was apparent throughout the season. Especially improved was the center of the line, held down by tackles Ralph Cammack and George Andrews, and guards John Adams and Ted Eichenberger.

On Homecoming Day, November 7, the Balesmen again fell to Linfield JV, this time 25-13. George Fox took the lead late in the first quarter as a 16 yard pass from Dick Zeller to Don Lamm scored a touchdown, and Lamm threw to Bob Chess for the conversion. But a determined Linfield offensive gave the McMinnville squad the win. The other Quaker score came late in the game when Dick Zeller crashed to paydirt for his first touchdown in college football.

GEORGE BALES

After six years at the George Fox College athletic helm, George Bales resigned.

Bales came to GFC in 1948 as athletic director and coach of football and basketball. His six years here have seen many accomplishments. Among these are consistently successful athletic squads; a well-managed athletic plant; a minor in the physical education curriculum; and one of the best conditioning rooms of any college or university athletic department in the Northwest.

The Metropolitan Collegiate Basketball Conference, a six-school league of colleges in the Portland area, was organized by Bales and other cooperating coaches in 1949.

Coach Bales had an enviable record in all sports, especially basketball. His cage squads won 71 and lost only 51, including a 31-17 record in Metropolitan Conference play. The Quakers won the MCC championship in 1952, ended third in 1953, and finished in second place every other year.

Bales attended Newberg high school and starred in athletics as a state champion wrestler. He graduated from George Fox College with an A.B. degree in 1943 and the next year received a Th.B degree at GFC. After some pastoral work, he took a full graduate course in physical education at Springfield College in Massachusetts.

During his stay at George Fox, Coach Bales won the respect and admiration of all whom he influenced. He has been widely heralded as depicting the finest in Christian coaching.

At press-time, the Quaker baseball squad looked like one of the outstanding in GFC history.

The Bernard McGrath coached club defeated a strong Portland State College nine 7-4 behind the two-hit pitching of Cub Grimm in the opener of a 15 game slate.

The Quakers began the season with a six game winning streak, carried over from the undefeated diamond crew of 1953.

Starters included: catcher—Dick Zeller; pitchers—Cub Grimm and Don Lamm; first base—Verne Martin; second base—Earl Tycksen; shortstop—Rolly Hartley; third base—Bill Hampton; utility infielder—Steve Ross; outfielders—Clint Brown, Bob Chess, and Ron Barnick.

Russ Pickett

The track squad, coached by George Bales, participated in several meets during the spring. Before the L'Ami went to press the thinclads had been in two meets, making a good showing against OCE and Pacific University; and rolling over Newberg high school in a practice meet.

Cub Grimm was high scorer in early contests. Among his performances were new modern GFC records in the broad jump (20 feet 1½ inches) and high jump (5 feet 11½ inches).

Dave Wing also accumulated a sizeable number of points in the sprints and hurdles, as did Dick Zeller with the weights.

Other track men were Mac Corlett, Harlan Barnett, Fred Newkirk, Russ Pickett, George Andrews, Dean Priddy, Art Simpson, and Bob Field.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

As I come to the point where the 1954 L'Ami is about finished—I look back on the fun, the troubles and the work of having undertaken such a task.

Thanks to Lois Bain for being such a capable assistant (she's great when you are down with the mumps), to Miss Shattuck for her friendly advice, to Donna Switzer and Marcille Fankhauser for their hours at the typewriter, to Sandra Nurdyke for her fine art work, to Bob Field and Kara Newell for taking care of the finances, to Betty Brown for her help in the writing, to Ralph Beebe and Rosemary Ramsey for their fine coverage of sports and especially to Lowell Hurd for his ever-readiness to be where you need him.

We of the L'Ami staff would like to express our sincere appreciation to the staff of Riley's Studio.

They are a firm which is one of our schools best friends.

Always helpful, eager to advise, that's the staff at Riley's.

Thanks,
L'Ami Staff of '54
